

Browse Types

ScienceBase currently has an evolving item "browse type" classification based on harvested data sources. Browse types in ScienceBase are essentially raw classification of incoming items that are generalized into ScienceBase Categories. Browse types are stored in the ScienceBase Vocabulary so that they can be easily edited as well as accessed through the Vocab API.

Click here to view the current list of browse types.