

NAISMA is hiring!

The North American Invasive Species Management Association (NAISMA), a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization, announces an employment opportunity for a 34 time Program Manager position to administer the PlayCleanGo® Program.

PlayCleanGo is an international education and outreach campaign for outdoor recreationists developed to promote awareness, understanding, and cooperation by providing a clear call to action to be informed, attentive, and accountable for stopping the spread of invasive species. The PlayCleanGo program needs a Program Manager with creative ideas for program growth and who thrives in a fast-paced and creative team.

The successful candidate will help grow the program's reach in the U.S.; facilitate committees and partner involvement; oversee and manage new outreach, partnership, and program promotion initiatives; generate reports and communications for internal and external publications and grants as needed; have excellent communication skills; and experience managing projects with multiple partners.

While NAISMA's office is in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, this position can be executed via telecommuting from anywhere if the successful candidate has demonstrated capacity to do so. This is a 1-year, non-salaried contractor position, renewable depending on the successful candidate's performance and the organization's fundraising efforts.

Click here for the complete Program Manager job announcement. Interested candidates, please email a single pdf file with a resume or CV and cover letter with 2-3 references to: bbergner@naisma.org by COB Tuesday, July 30, 2019.